Editorial

Firstly a change in staff will occur for us as Mrs Baldwin will take up a new role in 2014. She will fill the position of Assistant Principal at Broken Hill School of Distance Education. Mrs Baldwin has spent 27 years at Railway Town, definitely a record. We wish her all the best for 2014.

Mrs Prevett sends her regards and has informed me her husband will be transferred to Adelaide, which will be effective in mid-November. So unfortunately Mrs Prevett will not be with us next year.

Stage 2 left early Monday morning on their excursion to Victor Harbour. They will return on Wednesday at approx. 4pm.

The PSSA girls soccer gala day will be held this Friday, weather permitting. Miss Whittle will be taking the girls for the day.

Our first Kindergarten orientation day will be held next Tuesday from 9-10am.

Have a great week,

Nigel Sherrard

Principal

What are Family Referral Services?

Family Referral Services  are a free service that help children, young people and families to cope in difficult times by linking families into local services to provide support and assistance.

Family Referral Services may refer you, and other family members, to a broad range of services that might include home visiting, intensive family support, quality child care, housing, parenting education, supported playgroup, drug and alcohol services, mental health services, youth support services, respite care or material aid services.

Do I Need Support?

Everyone needs some support from time to time to manage the pressures of a modern family life, particularly if you are experiencing vulnerability. You may just want some advice or you be experiencing something more serious. No matter your situation, your local FRS might be able to help.

- Are you feeling lonely or isolated?
- Are you finding it difficult to look after your children?
- Is someone in your family being violent or abusive to you and/or your children?
- Are you concerned about the amount of drugs or alcohol someone in your family is using?
- Do you or someone in your family have a mental health problem that is impacting on the wellbeing of your children?
- Are you and/or your children unhappy a lot of the time?
- Are you homeless or living in unstable or unsuitable housing?
- Are you worried that you or someone in your family might hurt your child?
- Is there a lot of arguing and shouting in the home?
- Are you worried that you won't be able to cope when your baby is born?

Can Family Referral Services Help Me?

This is a free service for children, young people and families of any cultural background.

Some services have a specific focus on supporting Aboriginal families and culturally and linguistically diverse families as well.

Women who are pregnant, and their partners/family, can also receive support to help prepare for the birth of their baby.

Family Referral Services can help with:

- Identifying and understanding what you and your family needs
- Over the phone or face to face information and advice
- Linking you, and family members, to appropriate and supportive services in your local community

A family worker will talk with you and provide you with information on local services that may be able to support and assist you. The family worker can make a referral(s) for you and your family to the services that will best suit your needs.

How Do I Contact a Family Referral Service?

Family Referral Services operate state-wide across New South Wales. You can contact your local Family Referral Service directly or you may prefer a family member, friend or your GP to make the initial contact for you.

Workers in government agencies and non-government organisations can also contact a Family Referral Service on your behalf.

Contact details are included in this Factsheet.
